

San Antonio Business Journal lists local firm P³S Corporation among top 50 private companies

SAN ANTONIO, Texas – Local federal contracting company P³S Corporation is pleased to announce it was honored by the San Antonio Business Journal by being listed among the city's top 50 private businesses in 2010.

The Business Journal, in concert with leading local accounting firm Carneiro, Chumney & Co., L.C., will recognize P3S Corporation's contributions to the local and national economy at the annual luncheon Mar. 11. The list was compiled by collecting company data from the most recent fiscal year.

P3S Corporation, with less than 400 employees throughout 29 of the United States, ranked second among companies worth more than $5 million but less than $15 million, and 40th on the list overall. Military insurance giant USAA topped the list at more than $1 billion in revenues, putting P3S Corporation in very respectable company.

"Being mentioned on this list is a huge honor," said Mary Ellen Trevino, president of P3S Corporation. "We showed tremendously well within our own size category and very strong in the overall list. Next year, if our incredible growth remains on track, we expect to move into a whole new size classification."
